

MACROORGANIZATION OF THE REPUBLIC OF SERBIA MINISTRY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS

Dragan Cvetković

Summary: Achieving business goals of an organization assumes to build an organizational structure in all business sectors and particularly in the public sector which is of great importance for the further process of European integration. The Ministry of Internal Affairs the citizens, as an important area of governance, has great importance for the life of citizens since it is in this department that the measures aimed to safeguard the rights and freedoms of citizens are brought and carried out. In its functional and organizational terms, the Ministry of Internal Affairs is going through constant changes, so that practically a specially organized public body the primary task of which is to take care of the security of people and the Republic. The organizational structure, as formal configuration of people and groups interconnected with a view of dividing tasks, responsibilities and authority within the organization, represents an invisible framework which can be described and changed if necessary. The purpose of the organizational structure of the Ministry of Internal Affairs is to achieve the mission and goals of this very significant strategic body of state administration. It should enable a quick response to opportunities and threats which are brought by the environment, as well as effective and efficient functioning of the Ministry.